

Lorenzo Senni (b. 1983) is a multidisciplinary artist and composer residing in Milan. He studies Musicology at Alma Mater Studiorum University in Bologna and he is author of electronic audio works. Using Max/msp, Supercollider and different kind of real time digital sound synthesis he spits out an abstract stream of extreme computer music. Now he is involved in computer music and soundscape studies. His research interests include algorithmic methods in the arts, interactive programming for artistic purposes and improvisation with instrumentalists and live-electronics. He has toured throughout Europe and he is just planning an Japanese Tour to present his new album "Dunno" out in May. He collaborates with theatre companies as Orthographe and Pathosformel and supported concerts by KTL, John Wiese, EVOL, Dave Phillips. He is founder of Presto!?, label focused on the "New-Sounds" of the contemporary music scene who collaborated with artists such as Carl Michael Von Hausswolff, Marcus Schmickler, John Wiese, Lasse Marhaug, Alberto De Campo, Werner Dafeldecker, EVOL, Lawrence English, John Hudak, just to name a few.
